The Supervisory Union Board decides the local share of the Superintendent's salary and other Union expenses. The share paid by the several Districts toward the Superintendent's salary for 1960-61 is as follows: Dummer, $197.20; Gorham, $4,071.60; Jefferson, $551.00; Milan, $516.20; Randolph, $197.20; Shelburne, $266.-80. The State Treasurer also reports the amount of the per capita tax, while the Teachers' retirement and the State Employees' Retirement Association assesses the amount for the superintendent's retirement and other District employees that belong to the system. In those towns that are under Social Security, the amount to be paid by the District is established by law.

The amount of the appropriation requested will be reduced by the amount of the balance left at the end of the fiscal year and by any amount of state aid due the District.

Estimated income: Noon lunch reimbursement from the State $200. This is an offset item under Special Activities and Special Funds.

Superintendent's Report

To the School Board and Citizens of the Dummer School District

Foreword

The many phases of education have been critically analyzed during the past few years, and will continue to be carefully examined in the years ahead because of its ever-expanding and important role in the world today. The following quotation, taken from the editorial page of the Christian Science Monitor summarizes the role of education as seen by the President's Commission on National Goals. "The development of the individual and the nation demand that education at every level and in every discipline be strengthened and its effectiveness enhanced. New teaching techniques must continue to be developed. The increase in population and the growing complexity of the world add urgency. Greater resources — private, corporate, municipal, state and federal — must be mobilized. A higher proportion of the gross national product must be devoted to educational purposes. This is at once an investment in the individual, in the democratic process, in the growth of the economy, and in the stature of the United States."

With this thought in mind, I feel that the following summary of a report made to the President's Commission on National Goals by the president of the Carnegie Corporation and Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Dr. John Gardner, is quite significant. Dr. Gardner has listed some considerations that he feels of paramount importance regarding the areas of school population and programs of study. Relative to the student, Dr. Gardner believes,

- attempts to identify children of unusual potentials should begin when schooling begins.
- thoughtful attention should be given to the needs of the group with limited academic talents.
- we should not, in dealing with children, develop an elite group, while others are classified at a lower level.
- in high school every academically talented student should take four years of English, four years of math, four years of one foreign language, at least three years of science and three years of social studies.

With reference to curriculum, Dr. Gardner pointed out in his report that;

—that reading is the most important part of the curriculum.
—mathematics is second only to reading in importance in the elementary school, and as in reading, remedial work should be prompt and generous.

—in high school everyone should take at least one year of mathematics and those going on to college, four years.

—all high school natural science courses should be revised in the light of current changes and developments.

—a course in biology or physical science should be required of all students in high school.

—full-year elective courses in biology, chemistry and physics should be offered in all high schools, and students going on to college should study the sciences for at least three years.

—foreign languages should start no later than Grade 7 and every four-year college should require for entrance, four years of high school study of a single foreign language.

While the report did not cover the role of the school in the development of one's character, one's physical well-being, one's vocational education, or the role of music and art, all are very important elements of any educational system. Dr. Gardner's views were whole-heartedly supported by leading educators throughout the country, including the president of the American Council on Education, Arthur S. Adams, former president of the University of New Hampshire. Similar recommendations have been made by Dr. James Conant, former president of Harvard University, in his two reports on The American High School and The American Junior High School.

To accomplish some of the recommendations that have been presented in the aforementioned paragraphs, School Boards and School Districts in rural areas have a difficult and expensive task. Young people growing up in rural areas similar to that of Dummer must better prepare themselves to take their rightful place in the society of the future. All of us agree that the technological progress of the past decade makes it necessary that one gets all the education possible. It seems to me that rural areas can provide the type of education necessary for the future only through joining larger administrative units, if they wish to keep the expense of providing public education at a minimum.

Dummer took a big step last year by voting to consolidate the two schools and to send pupils in grades 7 and 8 to Berlin Junior High School. How soon further consolidation will take place is questionable, but I predict that sometime in the future this step will be taken to provide the type of specialized education that is needed today. Our pupils in the junior high school have adjusted well to thtir new environment, judging from their report cards and from talks with school officials in Berlin. The broader curriculum opportunities, increased guidance services, and the challenge of being in larger groups will make entrance and adjustment to high school much easier. I predict that the number of drop-outs in high schol will decrease considerably due to the change voted last year at the annual meeting.

Budget and Warrant

The proposed budget for next year totals $21,417.98 as compared to the budget of $19,308.74 for the current year. The increase of approximately $2300 is due to three factors. We have the first payment of $1,232 coming due on the school bus; second, our tuition expense has been increased by $850; third, we propose to raise the salary of the teacher by $200. Beginning teachers in New Hampshire receive nearly $4,000 to start when graduated from college, and the average elementary salary in the State for the current year is more than $4,450. The School Board and myself feel it wise and fair to try to get the salary of our teacher in line with what is being paid throughout the area and state. This is especially true when you consider the fact that the type position we have is one of the most difficult to fill. This is caused by the fact that young graduates do not desire, and in most cases will not accept, positions in one-room rural schools.

We should have a fairly substantial balance at the end of the fiscal year to help decrease the tax assessment unless n emergency develops. Even though the proposed budget is more than the current one, by consolidating the schools we save nearly $5,000, which is a saving that we actually are making each year, even though it does not show.

There are no special articles to be presented for action in this year's warrant.

Teachers

After many years of faithful service to the District, Mrs. Florence Hamlin decided to accept an offer to teach in the Berlin School system. The move by Mrs. Hamlin meant a decided increase in salary and a one-grade teaching assignment. The District, parents, students, and myself are indeed indebted to her for the conscientious effort and interest shown in the Willis School and its problems.

The reorganization of the two schools enabled us to transfer Mrs. Elvira Sias to the Willis School from West Dummer. Having had most of the present students during her teaching years at West Dummer, Mrs. Cias has been able to adjust to her new surroundings extremely well. Without a doubt, Mrs. Sias is one of our most conscientious teachers and the District is fortunate in having her for an instructor.

Enrollment and Attendance

Our percentage of attendance remains approximately the same as last year, 94.8 percent as compared to 95 percent. This is an extremely high percentage of attendance for a rural elementary school and speaks well for the students and parents. However, the record for tardiness is not one that we can take pride in. The record of 30 cases of tardiness during the school year is not good and for the most part involves only one or two students. The habit of being late is not a good one to form so early in life.

With the pupils in grades 7 and 8 now attending the Berlin Junior High School, we have an enrollment in the Willis School of 22. Our enrollment for next year will be just about the same with four new first graders and three of our present sixth graders scheduled to enter junior high.

Buildings and Equipment

Most of the repair work done during the summer was the ordinary type of maintenance. The Willis School is still in excellent condition, and when some work scheduled for the basement next summer is completed, there will be few rural schools that can compare with it for quality.

Steps were taken to close the West Dummer School in such a way that it can be used again if the enrollment on that side of town warrants the reopening of the building. Panels were put over the windows, the plumbing drained, the well disconnected and the building swept. All of the usable supplies, books, and equipment were brought over to the Willis School.

The major items of equipment that we need are more playground equipment for younger children. The School Board plans to purchase some items from the current budget and one or two other pieces from next year's money. When this is done, the Willis School will be in excellent condition regarding the upkeep of the building and the supply of instructional and recreational equipment.

Tuition

We have the largest number of tuition pupils in high school this year that we have had for many years. In fact, it may be the largest number in the history of the district. The 12 tuition pupils in high school coupled with the five in grades 7 and 8, gives a total of 17 tuition pupils in Berlin. This number will be the same next year in high school (12) and we can expect six in grades 7 and 8. It would appear at this time this number will be somewhat constant for the next three or four years due to the large number of pupils in grade 9 at Berlin.

As pointed out in the section on the budget, the greatest increase in the tax assessment is caused by the increase in the tuition rate charged by Berlin. Berlin's tuition rate next year will be $436.00 for high school and $300 for grades 7 and 8. The average cost for educating a high school pupil in New Hampshire last year was $436 which is the most Berlin can charge for tuition. However, the actual per pupil cost in Berlin High School was well over $600. This was due to the fine program offered by that school and the small number of pupils in some of the classes.
